MALERIE MARDER'S NAKED EYE

LONDON—Yale wunderkind Malerie Marder is known for her nude portraits of family, friends, lovers and even herself. In her digitally enhanced photographs, Marder's subjects exhibit attitudes ranging from ennui to excitement, and they can be comely, distant, disarming or direct. A crisp, color-saturated sensuality permeates the new works on view at Maureen Paley Interim Art (21 Herald Street) from December 13 through January 27. Every photograph, including one of the artist, Untitled, 2001, shown right, is an act of seduction. The gallery is exhibiting roughly 10 works in all, among them a selection of Marder's black-and-white images from 1998. Prices had not been set at press time but will run up to £3,500 ($5,000).
